

Women Advancing Business for Good

Across their curricular and career preferences, women have an outsized interest in leveraging business and their graduate management education to make the world a better place.

Sustainability and Environment of women say sustainability is important or very important to their academic experience compared to 64% of men.

of women say sustainability is a "must have" in their ideal GME curricula compared to 25% of men.

Equity and Inclusion

81%

of women say equity and inclusion are important or very important to their academic experience compared to 61% of men.

36%

of women want careers where they can travel internationally compared to 29% of men.

26%

of women say cultural competency is a "must have" in their ideal GME curricula compared to 13% of men.

Social Responsibility

82%

of women say health and well-being are important or very important to their academic experience compared to 71% of men.

28%

of women say corporate social responsibility is a "must have" in their ideal GME curricula compared to 17% of men.

32%

of women are interested in non-profit or government careers post-GME compared to 29% of men.

Learn more at gmac.com/research